

Widget background brushes

Gradient and image background fills are routed through shared widget background painting.

Container gradient background

A plain div uses the same shared widget background brush path as labels and paragraphs.

Label with radial brush background

Paragraph background images now flow through the same shared widget background painter, with the image drawn into a clipped widget box.

Tiled image background

This panel uses a full-height tile plus horizontal repeat so high-resolution artwork still fills the box vertically while demonstrating visible tiling.